

January 25, 1996

Re: Reference request / Rick Alan Davis

Dear

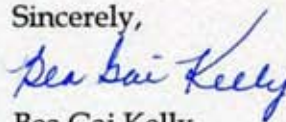

Should you or your staff have a need for on-site support, allow me to recommend the services of Rick Davis, Computer Consultant and Technician.

I became acquainted with Rick in June of '95, when our firm was looking for a reliable videographer for a large construction-defect case. He was referred by Voice & Video, Inc., a company with whom we've done a steady business for six years. We hired Rick and he proved himself to be a capable videographer, but it became clear that his real talent lay in computer electronics and software applications.

When he learned of the problems we were having with accounting, payroll and other soft-ware programs crucial to running our business, Rick offered his help. We soon learned of his competence with respect to both hard & software upgrades, installation and configuration, troubleshooting and repairs, and training & consultation.

Rick had three different systems torn down, repaired, upgraded and fully operational within a couple of days. He was efficient, reasonable and pleasant to do business with. I am confident of Rick's abilities and recommend him for all of your computer support needs.

Sincerely,

Bea Gai Kelly
VP/CFO